

HBAGC Installs Council Officers

The Home Builders Association of Greater Chicago (HBAGC) recently announced the names of the officers installed to its councils. The Association installed the new officers at its recent inaugural ball.

There are six councils within the Association that are specialty groups focusing on issues relevant to their areas of expertise. The Custom Builders Council focuses on issues pertaining to those members whose primary business is the construction of custom homes with volume at 100 or fewer homes annually. The Multi-Family Housing Council represents the interests of members who work in the development and production of multifamily housing. The Production Builders Council addresses issues related to large volume builders. The Remodelers Council works to enlighten the public on the advantages of maintaining homes in good condition and on encouraging the ethical conduct and uniform practices among firms in the remodeling industry. The Sales and Marketing Council focuses on issues related to the sales and marketing of new homes. The Young Builders Council addresses the needs of those who are new to the industry.
